BOOKS 0-5 YRS

FOLD-OUT + PLAY: DOLL'S HOUSE

This fantastic fold-out book effortlessly transforms into a stylish 3D doll's house that children can explore and play with! There are stand-up characters to bring to life, pieces of press-out furniture to build and colourful stickers to decorate the house with. Enjoy hours of play in your customised doll's house "Great value for money and more robust than we anticipated. Little ones needed help building the furniture but loved playing with it and had hours of fun. The book itself, the rooms it makes and the storage compartment are gorgeous and such a good idea."

Nosy Crow £20.00 nosycrow.com

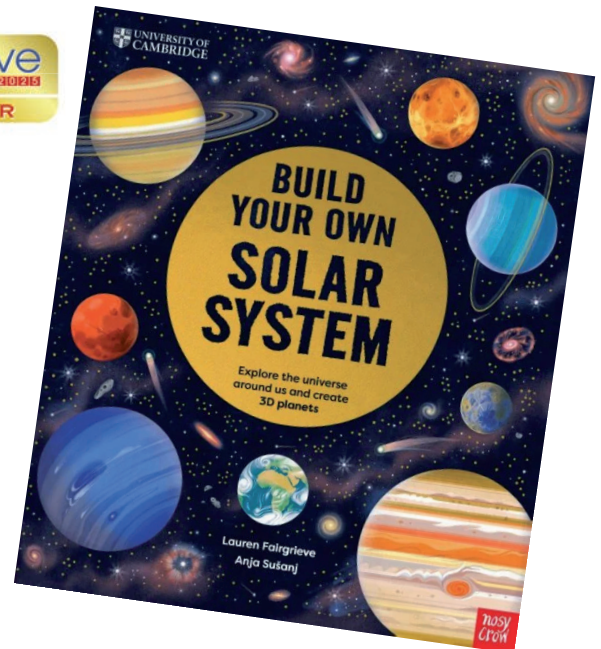

IT'S OK TO SAY NO

From PSHE expert and bestselling author Molly Potter comes a reassuring picture book about consent. With child-friendly explanations and Sarah Jennings' illustrations, it teaches children aged 4+ that it's OK to say "no" and respect others' "no." Covering personal space, sharing, privacy, and help-seeking, it includes guidance for parents.

"A really good book that broaches a sensitive subject, but breaks it down perfectly with child-friendly illustrations and explanations that clearly illustrate feelings and behaviours linked to consent. An invaluable resource and will be using it in our provision in the future."

THE COMPLETE COLLECTION OF NURSERY RHYMES IN MANDARIN CHINESE

Fish Tales & Rhymes creates bilingual music toy books that play Chinese nursery rhymes while fostering the love of culture through language, music and play. The four-part collection features 8 soothing childhood songs in each toy book, some of which are based on ancient poems and wise folk tales from China and now adapted into catchy songs.

"These are really fun for kids who are starting to learn Mandarin. The use of music for language learning is unique and the illustrations are engaging. Songs are catchy – our 4 year old tester enjoyed dancing to the tunes, whilst older children enjoyed reading the book. Great for travelling with integral headphone link. Highly recommend!"
